Rangjung Yeshe Institute Introduces Online Learning

Now open for Registration

Rangjung Yeshe Institute is pleased to announce the launch of its Online Buddhist Studies program - making the Buddhist classics available to anyone, anywhere.

The inaugural course provides students with traditional teachings on Nāgārjuna's Knowledge—Root of the Middle Way (Mūlamadhyamakakārikā); perhaps the most important Buddhist philosophical scripture of the Indian tradition. Additional lectures and discussion groups provide a broader historical and cultural context for assimilating the teachings in today's world.

Registration for the fall semester 2009 is now open! Classes may be taken for academic credit.

With best wishes from all of us at Rangjung Yeshe Institute.

In Praise of Learning

Listen to the Buddha's teaching and you become pure, serene and gentle.

Contemplate and you gain confidence in liberation.

Meditate and you discover your inner natural wisdom.

Therefore, strive hard to listen, contemplate and meditate!
